Both of these ministers referred to the position taken by The Willia AND Courier, and heartly commended and endorsed the sentiments expressed in recent editorials, and carnestly hoped the officers would enforce the probibliory laws, belleving that public sentiment, would sustain the movement.

The New York Herald again trots put" the report that Secretary Blaine its going to resign on account of Ill health. If the papers instead of devoting so much altentien to Mr. Blaine's health would look nore closely after the health of their correspondents the news service of their columns would be vastly improved. The man, for instance, who would undertake o embellish this old story and produce it as a brand 'now, sensation needs 'medica' treatment, or at least rest. The report is ridiculed by his colleagues in the Cabinet as hot weather journalism.

An Interesting Paper by Carcinal Gibbons. BALTIMORE, July 13. Cardinal Globons nus prepared for the Cosmopolitan Maga-clue, of New York, an interesting paper on "The dignity, lights and responsibility of labor." He says a contented and happy vorking class is the bast safeguard of orers, like the starying and enslaved populace of Roma in the time of Augustus Crear, would be a constant mensee and reproach to the country.

Casar, would be a constant mease, and represent to the country.

Its says the laboring classes should have the privilege to organize for mutual protection and beceif and it would be as unjust to depy be, worklegmen the right to band together because of abuse heddent to such combinations as to withhold the same right from capitalists because they some times unwarrantally seek to crush or absorb weaker, rivals.

A public recognition of the right to organize, the cardinal says, implies countganize, the cardinal says, implies confidence in the intelligence and honesty of the masses and inspires them with a laudable desirn of meeting, the approval of their fellow citizens. There should not, and need not be, any conflict between onp-ital and labor, since both are necessary for

New Settlers versus the City Authorities.

While regarding it, they thought they aw a boat actually lurking at the very place, but the shore cast such a chadow over the border of the water that they could discern nothing distinction. They had not preceded far when they heard the low seemed for when they heard the low seemed for when they heard the low seemed of distant oars, as if cantiously pulled. Sam plied his early with reducibled vigor, and knowing all the eddies and currents of the stream, soon left their followers, if such they were, in astern. In a little while they stretched across Turtle hay and know by stretched across Turtle hay and know by stretched across Turtle hay and know by stretched across Turtle hay and know a fine shrifty along, soone from clearwithen. At length Sam shet his skiff into a little cove, darkly embowered by these, and made it fast to the well known from ring. They now landed, and lighting the lanthorn, gathered their various implements and proceeded slowly through the bushes. Every sound startled them even that of their footsteps among the dry leaves and the hooting of a screech owl, from the shattened chimney of father red caps run made their blood run cold.

There are two family oracles, one or other of which Dutch housewives consult in all cases of great doubt and perplanity the dominic and the dector. In the present instance they repaired to the doctor. There was at that time a little dark, moldy man of medicine famous among the o'd wives atkhat timb a little dark, moldy man of medicine famous among the o'd wives of the Manhattoes for his skill not only in the healing art, but in all matters of strange and mysterious mature. was more commonly known by the appellation of the High Glerman doctor To him did the poor women repair for counsel and assistance touching the mental vagaries of Wolfert Webber. They found the doctor scatted in his dark camblet robe of krowledge with his black reliet cap, after the manner of Boorhuave, Van Helmont and other modical sages a pair of green spectacles set in black horn upon his clubbed hose, and poring over n German follo that seemed to reflect back the darkness of his physiognomy. The doctor listened to their statement of the hymptons of Welferts malady with profound attention, but when they came to mention his riving about buried, mency, the little man pricked up his cars. Alog, poor women they little knew the aid they had called in.

Dr Knippenhausen had been half his life engaged in seeking the short cuts to fortune, in quest of which so many a long lifetime is wasted. [His life ind passed some years of his life in the Harz mountains of Germany, and had derived much valuable instruction from the miners.

long lifetime is wasted | He had passed some years of his life in the Harz mountains of Germany, and had derived much valuable instruction from the miners, touching the mode of seeking treasure burfed in the carth. He had prosecuted his studies also under a traveling sage who united all the mysteries of medicine with magic and legerdurann. His mad, therefore, had become stored with all kinds of mystic lore I.dl ad tabbled a little in astrology, alcl onw and divination, knew how to detect stolen money, and to tell where springs of water law hidden, in a word, by the dark nature of his knewledge he had acquired the name of the High German dector which is pretty nearly equivalent to that of necromancer. The dector bird often licard rumons of treasure being burfed in various parts of the kaland, and had long been anxious to get on the traces of it. No lose er were Wolferts waking land sleeping vagaries confided to him, than he kil did in them the confirm of symptoms for a case of money diegue, and lost no time on probing it to the bottom. Wolfert had long been secret, and as a fumily physician.

been sorely depressed in mind by the golden secret, and as a family physician is a kind of father contessor, he was glad of the opportunity of unburdening him sail. So far from curing, the doctor caught the malady from his patient. The chrematures unfolded to him mack end all his cupidity, he had not a doubt of money being puried somewhere in the neighborhood of the mysterious crosses, and offered to join Welfert in the search. He informed him that much secrecy and caution must be observed in enterprises of the hind, that money is only to be digged for at night, with certain forms and erementes, the huming of drags, the repeating of mystic words, and above all, that the sealers must be provided

The Banker Creamery, [Hon Z A (Il bert in the Maine Farmer]

While in Bangor recently, through the the member of the board of agriculture for Penotscot county, we were shown the many improvements the about the provided agriculture for many improvements the about the shown the renouse county, we have beening to many improvements the city is securing to its citizens, and naturally enough finally gravitated to matters agricultural and vis ited the new butter factory fitted up last winter and put in operation by the Bangor start and felt an interest to learn its actual standing and what was its promise for fu ture success and are pleased to report everything in good order and prospering the creamery is located in the city, the company having leased on long time a good building for the purpo e, afterding ample room inside and out for all the work they can ever have to do, and on extreme-

y Invorable terms

they can ever have to do, and on extremely Invocable terms.

The fixours throughout are first class in overy respect. The cream tapks, churn, butter worker and gathering cans are of a diffirent make from the most of those used in other creameries in the State and were purchased from Haney & Campbell, Haleins, Iowa. The churn differs from those in general use in that the entire top's hinged and is lifted for the removal of the butter after it is fully churned. This appeared to be a desimble feature of the churn and is liked by the operator. The Rice power hutter worker is used and we were so for hutter worker is used and we were so for hutter worker is used and we were so for hutter worker in the patterns of power workers in operation and earlinly must give the preference to this, the latest offering. It did its work well and with comparative case to the operator.

Six hundred paunds of butter is the dally make at the present time. The cream's gathered by six collectors from 121 patrons, the routes extending to Kenduskenz, on the west side, and through Orrington on the east. A choice product of butter is made and the most of it finds said in the State, largely if the oilty where it is much. Fighteen and two-offits conts a pound met was paid to the patrons for their May butter the hardest month in the very for the business. This is measuring to
